

What's stifling your scale and speed of innovation?

Be Open to more and see how Red Hat can empower you to achieve the extraordinary

Embrace progress, move forward.

In today's dynamic business landscape, digital reinvention is vital for organizations to stay competitive. However, navigating the technical, cultural, and financial barriers can be a significant challenge. If you're open to achieve more despite your capacity to invest, then Red Hat is your partner.

Red Hat is here to support IT leaders and C-suites who are driven to take action and fully committed to achieving their strategic goals with a design thinking approach. With Open to more workshops, Red Hat offers its expertise in helping you to build upon the skills, services, and systems you already have.

Transform your innovation dreams into reality with open-source

Red Hat has helped numerous leaders such as yourself to achieve their transformation goals with a design thinking approach, using open-source. We have empowered organizations to build agile teams, embed digital technologies, and shorten the product development life cycle.

Give us 1 day of your week and we'll show you how

(includes lunch and optional dinner)

Our team of experts offers personalized on-site consultations or meeting at our Red Hat office, depending on your convenience. By leveraging a design thinking approach and harnessing the advantages of open-source solutions, we guide you through the intricacies of digital transformation with precision and ease.

Key Workshop Takeaways

- Identify opportunities to co-innovate across your IT strategy
- Bring IT and Business teams closer together to ideate on your technology roadmap
- Benefit from participating in open ways of working (including Red Hat Swag giveaways!)

With Open to more we offer our expertise in helping IT leaders move from legacy platforms and implement flexible open hybrid cloud solutions. By doing so, we enable you to develop, implement, and scale digital solutions both internally and externally.

So, are you open to more?

To go from a position of feeling restrained by reality to opening up for more, all it takes is this session.

Contact your Red Hat Account Manager to book yours now

